THE EXCISE BILL PASSED. TWENTY-ONE REPUBLICANS VOTED AGAINST IT IN THE ASSEMBLY.

The Bill to Stap Pigeon Trap Shooting Passed the Senate Mayor Van Wyck's Veto of the Charter Amendments Referred to the Senate Committee on Cities.

ALBANY, April 19 -- As predicted in THE SUN to-day the Stranahan bill amending the Liquor Tax law has passed the Assembly, notwithstanding the fact that 21 Republicans voted with the Democrate to defeat it. The bill was passed by a vote of 82 to 64. Had it not been for some of the bolters of Wednesday entering the caucias last night and abiding by the action the hill would have been defeated, for only 72 votes could have been secured for it. No time was lost in putting the bill on its final passage, a call of the House being ordered as soon as the bill was reached the calendar. Previous to the session Majority Leader Allds went among the members who had refused to attend the caucus last night, and as a result Mesers. Allson of Herkimer, Bryan of Jefferson and O'Malley of Erie voted for the bill. Mr. O'Malley was the only Erie county member to vote for the bill, and his colleagues were very indignant at him for going over after refusing to enter Members availed themselves of the opportunity to explain their votes. The Republicans, who voted against a party 'measure said that they did so because of local conditions and upon the demands of their constituents. The Democratic members took occasion to attack the bill as a weapon for blackmailers. It was contended by others that the present excise laws are sufficient. Minority Leader Frisbie de nounced the Raines law and said that all it was good for was a revenue raiser, and was not in the interest of morality or temperatice.

Majority Leader Allds said the proposes law will have the effect of reaching and permanently closing such joints as the Haymarket, the Tivoli, the Cairo and others of that stripe in New York city. In the past, when the proprietors have been arrested for violating the law they had their cases held up by the referees and went on violating the law. This bill will bring about a quick determination and report from the referees, for when they know that the places of business are closed pending their reports they will expedite them as speedily as pos-

Those who voted to amend the bill, on Wednesday, but abided by the caucus action and voted for the bill to-day were: Messrs. Ahearn of Rensselaer, Bell of New York, Cadin of Opondaga, Cotton and Remsen of Kings, Doughty and Vacheron of Queens, and Dusin-

The Republicans who voted against their party were: Messre. Adler, Davis and Henry of New York: Adams, Blackwell, Rainey, Waite and Weber of Kings; Brooks, Cook, Patton, Ruehl and Schneider of Erie, Cooley of The Bronx, Harrisjof Hamilton, Mains of Westchester, McQuade and Marson of Oneida, McMillan of Schenectady, Thorn of Ulster and Walrath of Montgomer?.

By just the required vote the Senate to-day passed Senator Slater's bill repealing that provision of law which permits pigeon trap shooting. The vote was as follows: Ayes-Ambler, Arrastrong, Audett, Brackett

Cocks, Davis, Dobnelly, Dowling, Elsberg, Foley, Puller, Goodsell, Hennessy, Higglas, Hill, Malby, Marshall, Martin, Plunkett, Raines, Sherwood, Slater, Thornton, Trainor, Wiscox and Wiley—25.

Noes—Ahearn, Cullen, Elisworth, Fester, Green, McCabe, McCarren, McKinney, Hamsperger, Stewart, Stranshan, Wagner and White—15. Stranahan, Wagner and White—13.

There is a strong doubt as to whether the bill will get out of the Assembly Rules Committee. The bill was discussed in an informal way in the meeting of the committee this afternoon, and as a result of the "informal" talk the bill was not reported. Majority Leader Allds said that legislation of such an important character as this should not be rushed through at this late day in the seasion. He thinks the bill is the result of a sporadic outbreak and humane enthuslasm, brought about by the Interstate pigeon shocking tournament last week. There seems to be a sentiment in the lower house to defeat the bill

MORIGAGE TAX BILL BURIED. Senator Stranahan Savs It Will Not Be Presse

to a Vote in Either House. ALBANY, April 19 - The Stranahan Mert gage Tax bill will not be pressed to a vote in either house. The result of last night's informal discussion of the bill in the caucus of the Republican Assemblymen has shown that it will be futile to ask the Senate to pass the bill when it will be defeated in the Assembly. Senator Stranahan to-day made the following statement: "The Assembly had a caucus last night, at which the Mortgage Tax bill was informally discussed but not caucused upon. The opposition to the measure, principally on the part of Assemblymen from New York, Kings and Eric counties, was such that it is believed to be impossible to pass the bill in that body. After a conference among the Republican leaders of both houses with the Governor, it was decided that nothing was o be gained by passing the bill in the Senate view of this situation, although the votes are ready in the Senate to pass the measure. In my judgment it will be a long time before a

In my judgment it will be a long time before a measure so nearly exempting mortgages from taxation will be favorably considered by the Legislature."

Senator Stranahan said the bill was not introduced at his instance or upon his own motion, but was the work of a commission appointed by Gov Roosevelt to consider the question of ta ation, and it was believed by the party leaders that the bill would meet the situation as regards the taxation of mortgages as no other legislation could. It would be a revenue raiser and materially aid in the scheme of doing away with a direct State tax, and would be an equitable measure to both the mortgagee and mortgager.

ANTI-SCALPERS BILL PASSED. The Senate Sends It to the Governor by a Vote of 82 to 12.

ALEANY, April 19 .- Assemblyman Everett's Anti-Ticket Scalpers bill passed the Senate co-day by a vote of 32 to 12. If there was any force in the allegations of the committee which represented the commercial traveller in opposition to the bill, and which had a wellorganized lobby here to defeat it, that the bill was being progressed by improper means. was not apparent to those in and outside of legislative halls. No one who was in any way interested in the railroads paid any attention to the bill, but the Pan-American Exposition directors and the German singing societies of the State were very active in its favor. They said that unless the bill was ps wed there would not be any reduced rate tickets issued for the Exposition, as the railroads did not care to issue them to have them fall into the scalpers' hands and be sold and fall into the scalpers' hands and be sold and used for other purposes than to go to or from the Exposition. The Pan-American people said that unless they could secure special rates from the railroads the Exposition would be a fallure, hence their desire to get the bill through. The bill now goes to the Governor. All but two of those who voted against the bill were Republicans, and they were opposed to the bill largely because they doubted its constitutionality. The vote was as follows:

"Never was a city in such a panic as Washington at that time. It was impossible to get near a high official of the Government. Treachery and assassination they believed to be floating in the air.

"The soldiery took me back to Gen Hancock's headquarters, whence I had ju thome, and upon the matter being explained to the officer in command I was immediately released from arrest and conducted back to Mr. Stanton.

"By order of Mr. Staton, a squad of twentytessel in pursuit of the men wanted for Poole's murder and Detective Sampson led the chase. After a run of over a thousand miles the pursuing vessel overtook the fugitives and Sampson arrested the principal man who was wanted, an actor named Lewis Baker.

He was brought back to New York and put on trial charged with Poole's murder, but he was not proven to be the principal assailant so he escaped being hanged and got off with a light sentence on a charge of being accessory to the crime. After Baker had been released from prison he became prominent as a tragedian.

Fernando Wood who was Mayor at the time of Baker's arrest presented a silver medal to him for meritorious conduct and right after this he received a gold medal from the New York Board of Fire Underwriters for good work he did at a fire. He next attracted public attention by saving the life of a man named John MoSoriey at fire in Seventeenth street. For this he received a gold medal. Then came a medal from the members of the Humane society for saving life.

In 1860 he resigned from the New York Banker's Association at a salary of $6,000 a year. His duties were to take care of the interests of the men doing business in Wall Street. While engaged in this work he succeeded in running down many forzers and other criminals. He travelled to Europe twice before he succeeded in capturing Edward Gray, a clever forger, and he went to Australia on three occasions to bring hack men who had stolenhoney from bankers. In recognition of these services the Banker's Association of New York presented a medal to him.

Sampson finally went into the service of the United States Government.

DETECTIVE SAMPSON DEAD.

A MAN OF MANY ACHIEVEMENTS AND MANY MEDALS.

His Connection With Many Important Arrests in the Last Fifty Years—Pursult of John Wilkes Booth After Lincoln Assassination.

The oldest detective in New York, Capt. Thomas W. Sampson, died of grip yesterday at the house of his daughter, Mrs. James L. His funeral will occur on Sunday and the interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Capt. Sampson in 1852 was a patrolima in the old Eighteenth precinct. At that time the was 27 years old. He had not been attached to the regular police force many years when Bill Poole was killed. The killing of Poole afforded Sampson an opportunity to Poole afforded Sampson and poole afforded were the most important witnesses.

Commissioner York repeated in substance what he said at the original hearing and said that he would give the preference to Democrats in making promotions, other things being equal. Chief Examiner Ireland said that he was struck in the examination of the papers with the fact that the rating that a man got in answer to one question was likely to be the same as the rating that he got in answer to all the others. He said that if a report on a man began with "excellent" that rating was likely to run all the way through, and he added that this aroused his suspicion as to the value of the reports sent out by the Police Commissioners. He sent to the board for the original reports of the superior offcers for the purposes of comparing them with the reports made by the board, but he was not able to get hold of them. He said that he did not at any time think that the Police Commissioners had done wrong, and he added that it was a serious matter for the subordinate of one department to make a charge of that kind against the head of an-
